THEY CRUSH THE POWERS

This is written in mid-October. The long, oppressive summer is quite gone. Fading leaf, withering tree and the rustling corn in the fields are signs of the season. Fog, frost, rain, snow,—they are coming. You remember last winter; of 1900 and 1901. The weather was cruel. Ah! the thousands it killed, and the hundreds of thousands it maimed and crippled. Oh, the rough grasp it laid on men at work, women at home, and children in cribs and cradles. Coughs that began before Thanksgiving Day are racking and tearing them still; yes, and growing worse as they dig deeper into the poor, tired throat and lungs. Many were cured by using Benson's Porous Plasters. For the soothing and healing power of these Plasters is wonderful. They conquer the complaints

THAT ARE KILLING THE PEOPLE.

No other plaster, no other medicine or application, can compare with them. Coughs, colds, backache, rheumatism, lumbago, kidney and liver troubles, asthma, influenza,—they all go down before Benson's Plasters like a snow image in the sun. You can't throw money away on a Benson's Plaster. Everybody is going to use them this season. But make certain you get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

THE EXILE

The Story of a Well Mated Couple

By CALDWELL LIPSETT

"I expect you speak the sahib who steals my window curtains. When traveler come, no curtains my windows, and I very much shame. If you, great burra sahib, not wish speak, what can do?"

Having entirely exhausted the resources of his English vocabulary the dak bungalow khansamah paused for breath and to see what effect the extent and variety of his acquaintance with our tongue would have upon me. The speech, however, was a mere flash in the pan, carefully committed to memory for the occasion, and I had to have recourse to the vernacular to learn the history of his woes. It appeared that there was an old sahib, a very old sahib, who lived in a house in the woods close by, and whenever the khansamah put up new curtains he came and took them away, and if the khansamah tried to prevent him he got beaten, for he was a very fierce old man and had been a great bahadur in his day.

"What did the man want the curtains for?"

"For clothes."

"How long had he lived in the woods?"

"Oh, a very long time; perhaps a hundred years."

That was all that I could learn about the matter. I told the khansamah to lock up the curtains in future and only to bring them out when some traveler was in the bungalow. I would speak to the sahib about it when I saw him, and then I straightway forgot the whole episode.

It was two or three mornings afterward that I was out for a stroll in the woods soon after sunrise. It was late autumn, and here in the temperate Kulu valley the fierce Indian sun does not reach its full intensity. There was a crisp freshness in the air almost like an English morning, and after the bare, brown, sun steeped plains of the Punjab, from which I had lately come, the lush green of the undergrowth was cool and refreshing to the eye. The large rosy checked Kulu apples gleamed through the branches of the orchards. But for the bite already latent in the slanting rays of the sun I might have been in Devonshire.

Presently I was aware of a curious figure approaching me. It was a tall old man with bent shoulders and long white hair falling about the collar of his coat. His clothes, though neatly made, were of a cheap white calico so largely in use among the natives, and his shoes were of untanned cowhide. His hat was of plaited straw. Everything about him was evidently homemade except one thing—round his waist was wound a red cummerbund, which gave him the air of a stage brigand of venerable aspect.

"Ha, sir," said he, following the direction of my gaze as he came near, "the scarlet, the grand old scarlet! It reminds me of the good old days when I wore her majesty's uniform in the Crimea before ever I came to this country." As I looked closer I recognized the pattern of the red rep of the curtains in the dak bungalow. This was the khansamah's enemy.

I thought the scarlet might be a tender subject, so I spoke of other things. It appeared that he was specially interested in the mineral wealth of the valley.

"There is gold in those hills," he said. "There is gold at the sources of this stream which flows beside our feet. But I have not the means to reach its fastnesses nor the machinery to pluck it from the bowels of the earth."

As he talked I had leisure to observe him more closely. In a land where the fierce heat of the sun dries up the marrow of a man's vitality and shortens his life by a span, where at sixty even a strong man is at the end of his life, he was evidently the age he claimed. His eye was already growing lusterless and his step losing the firm tread of health. His hands were seamed with toil, but he had a fine head, the arched brow and the inward seeing eyes of the dreamer, and he spoke like a man who, even in this back water of life had been at pains to keep himself abreast of the world. How did such a man come to be stranded in this wilderness?

Later I heard his story from some of the planters in the valley. Twenty-seven years before he had been my own predecessor as deputy commissioner of the adjoining district in British India. Then, as now, he had visions of the mineral wealth of the country. He went into partnership with a man who cheated him and sank all his money in a mine that never existed. Finally the partner asked for a sum of money to realize the ore. Spencer borrowed 40,000 rupees from the government treasury for the purpose. The partner fled with the money and left him unable to pay. When the time came to account for the amount in the treasury, a friendly commissioner warned him of his impending arrest on a charge of felony, and he had just time to rise in the night with his wife and flee across the border into this native state, where he had remained ever since.

On the night of their flight he and his wife had turned the cattle out of the first shed they had come to in order to rest for the night, and in that shed they had now lived for twenty-seven years.

From year's end to year's end they never saw a white face except one of the few planters in the valley, an official like myself, who crossed the border for a holiday, or a stray globe trotter. Here among a people distinct in color and alien in speech and thought the cultivated man and the delicately nurtured woman had lived out their life alone.

In this fertile valley the earth produced all that was necessary to sustain life. The natives gave them of their kind, and, like the natives, they lived mostly upon grain, rice and other vegetable products. Occasionally a planter would send them a barrel of apples or a case of whisky. Spencer would accept such presents as he might have received under happier circumstances, but he never took money. The pride of a gentleman still burned in him, though it had no respect for dak bungalow curtains.

Spencer had lined the mud walls of the cowshed with planks and made a few rough tables and chairs. Everything was scrupulously clean, but the hut was almost as bare and comfortless as it had been in its original condition as a barn. He kept a diary in which he would note the date on which the cuckoo was first heard in the valley, how one season the pear trees all burst into bloom for the second time, an unusual phenomenon, or how in another year the water channels on the hillsides all dried up because there was so little snow to melt, a drought ensued and there was scarcity in the land These were now his life's interests.

Mrs. Spencer when I knew her was a little fat woman with round cheeks which were now getting weather beaten, but she had brave gray eyes. It was only necessary to see the two together to know that through all the years of trial that had passed over them a perfect comradeship remained between them. After all Spencer had his compensation. Whatever troubles he may have endured, he had the one great blessing which so many men lack—his life had not been left incomplete or maimed by an unsympathetic helpmate.

Once I found myself looking at my wife with alien eyes and wondering if I were thus outcast by society, and I deserved it, whether she would cleave to me through good report and through evil report as this old woman stood by her husband.

My wife caught my eye and said: "What is it, dear? What treason are you thinking against me now?"

I told her.

"Traitor!" she whispered as she nestled her hand into mine, and then she sighed: "Poor old things! I wish we could do something to brighten their lives for them. Next Sunday is Michaelmas day. Let's ask them both here to dinner. It's not much, and even such as it is it may only help to show them the darkness of their ordinary lives—to remind them of things that it would be better to forget."

The eventful day arrived and brought with it Spencer in his sash of the "grand old scarlet," while his wife had a complete gown of the same material. The excitement and the wine brought a flush to the old woman's cheeks which showed in their red lines beneath the skin like cracks in very old china.

The dinner was over, and the pair insisted on giving us a song in return for our hospitality. They stood up hand in hand, and the song that they sang was "Auld Lang Syne."

I looked at my wife, and her eyes were full of unshed tears.—Golden Penny.

Stick to the Truth.

The following bit of rural philosophy was overheard in a farmyard in the east of England the other day:

"James, my son," said a man who stood mixing the milk and water, "you see what I'm a-doin' of?"

"Yes, father," replied James; "you're a-pourin' water into the milk."

"No, I'm not, James; I'm a-pourin' milk into the water. So if anybody axes you if I put water into the milk you tell 'em no. Allus stick to the truth, James. Cheatin' is bad enough, but lyin' is wuss."—London Tit-Bits.

PITTSBURG MILLIONAIRES.

Stories Illustrating the Rivalry That Exists Among Them.

The development of the steel industry has made Pittsburg a town of millionaires, and most of them are men who started without a cent. Of course the fact that they have become wealthy by their own efforts is greatly to their credit, but it does not help them in spending their money. Besides, there is a great deal of rivalry among them and much striving to outdo each other.

A story is told of two rival men of millions who have fine houses in Pittsburg's Fifth avenue. One of the rich men heard that the other was having two electric elevators installed in his house. He telegraphed to a New York firm for four house elevators. A man was sent out to draw the plans.

"But where on earth are you going to put all these elevators?" he asked in amazement when he looked over the architect's plans.

"I don't care where you put them," replied the rich man. "Put them anywhere, but put them. Smith has got two elevators in his new house, and I'm going to go him two better."

One of the richest Pittsburgers was in the smoking room of a Pullman car recently when the son of a rich friend entered and took a seat near him.

"My boy," said the old man, "do you know that there was once a time when I positively envied your father?"

The young man was pleased, for the old man was richer by three or four millions than his father.

"And when was that?" he asked, smiling.

"Well, it was a long time ago. You see, I was working in a ditch, shoveling dirt, for $1.50 a day. Your father was working in the same ditch, but he got $1.75."

The youth no longer smiled, for he has been trying all his life to forget that his father once worked with his hands.—New York Tribune.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

An old clergyman kept his stock of sermons in a pile in the vestry, and it was his custom to preach the uppermost one and then to place it at the bottom of the pile. Being absent one Sunday, a brother clergyman officiated, but he was horrified to find that he had left his sermon at home. On looking round, however, he saw this pile of sermons and took the one from the bottom, as he thought it would be the oldest. When the service was over, he placed the sermon on the top of the pile.

Next Sunday the rector preached the sermon which was on the top of the heap, as was his custom. When he was leaving the church, he asked the sexton what he thought of the sermon and was shocked with the following reply: "Well, it was good, sir, and after hearing it for three Sundays we have it off by heart."

Accommodating.

There is a point to this story: A burglar whose night entry into the parsonage awakened the sleeping pastor said to his helpless victim: "If you stir, you're a dead man! I'm hunting for money!"

"Just let me get up and strike a light," pleasantly replied the dominie, "and I shall be glad to assist you in the search."—Boston Watchman.

"Love lightens labor," the saying runs, and in a sense it is true. But even love cannot lighten labor or make it easy for the woman who is in constant suffering from inflammation, bearing-down pains or other womanly diseases. The one thing that can make work easy for women is sound health, and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the thing that will give sound health to sick women. It cures womanly diseases which cause weakness, and cures the backache, sidenche, nervousness and other ills which are the result of womanly diseases.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Which I had used the medicines a month, my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. Dr. Pierce's medicines have done wonderfully well here. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a triat. To my astonishment the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechler,
Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.,
Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its compositon alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success iswonderful and astonishing.

After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether. Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic Asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After taking one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.
Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have a family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make use of as you see fit.

SONOMA, MARCH 15, 1902.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

OUR SPECIAL EDITION.

ARRANGEMENTS are now being made for the publication of a special edition of THE INDEX-TRIBUNE, the columns of which will be devoted exclusively to a description of the manifold attractive features of the beautiful Sonoma Valley.

The natural charms of this veritable "Vale of Avoca" have never been described in anything like a complete manner, and in consequence very few of the thousands of Eastern people, who are constantly coming west in search of homes, have any idea of the inducements that lurk in this, the prettiest and most productive valley in California.

Our object in issuing a special edition of THE INDEX-TRIBUNE is to bring prominently before our Eastern friends. and especially those who are contemplating a permanent residence in California, the exceptional advantages that await them in Sonoma Valley. We must no longer continue to hide our charms under a bushel, if we are to entice hither the pro rata of desirable home-seekers that is justly due Sonoma Valley. Other localities in California, and all less favored than this rich section, are constantly harping on their inducements and resources and distributing descriptive literature broadcast throughout the East. The result is that hundreds of people of moderate means, and many possessing great wealth, are being lured to those localities every year.

Sonoma Valley must be brought to the front, and this can be done only by advertising our attractions and advantages.

It is proposed to make the special edition an eight-page seven column paper, and it will contain, among other things, beautiful half-tone engravings of the most picturesque scenes in the valley. The illustrations will also include residences, interiors and exteriors of wineries and creameries, stock, dairy, farming and poultry scenes, etc. It will be strictly a Sonoma Valley edition and will certainly redound to our benefit, as thousands of copies will be carefully distributed throughout the East. The paper will be issued as soon as possible in order that the large number of visitors and colonists who are coming over the Rockies this spring may have an opportunity to read of the resources of Sonoma Valley before deciding upon a residence location in California. Look out for the special edition!

Too Late.

The neatness of the New England housekeeper is a matter of common remark, and husbands in that part of the country are supposed to appreciate their advantages. A bit of dialogue reported by a New York paper shows, however, that there may be another side to the matter.

"Martha, have you wiped the sink dry yet?" asked the farmer as he made the final preparations for the night.

"Yes, Josiah," she replied. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, I did want a drink, but I guess I can get along till morning."

A Warning.

An English clergyman who was much given to telling wonderful stories of his own adventures was to lecture on his travels in Norway and invited a brother clergyman to a seat on the platform.

"I shall be happy to accept your invitation," wrote the brother clergyman, "and shall listen with interest to all you have to say, but every lie you tell I shall give a cough, and for goodness' sake don't let the audience be mistaken into thinking I have contracted a galloping consumption."

EL VERANO HAPPENINGS.

Other Items of Interest as Recorded by "You Know."

The El Verano Villa is to be lighted with acetylene gas.

Frank Weaver was an El Verano visitor to Santa Rosa last Saturday.

Chas. La Torres returned to his city home Sunday after a visit with his brother Frank.

W. J. Kearney is up and around again after being confined to his home with a severe cold.

J. McDonough of the El Verano Villa left for San Francisco Tuesday where he will visit friends.

The new saloon building of Felici Clerici is rapidly nearing completion. Geo. Cole is the builder.

Wm. Kerner of the O K saloon of Sonoma was in town Wednesday shooting 'em up with the boys.

John and William Burns of Alameda spent Saturday and Sunday on the Burns ranch near this place.

Jack Kearney of Alameda, after spending a few days at his old home near this place, returned to his new field of labors Sunday afternoon.

Mike Mullen has commenced to make preparations to go a-fishing on April 1st. He will whip Fowler creek from its headwaters to Sonoma creek.

Miss Lizzie and Annie Terry, accompanied by Miss May Monahan, came up from San Francisco the latter part of last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Thomas Walsh.

Sheriff Frank P. Grace came down from Santh Rosa on the Southern Pacific Saturday. On his return he was accompanied by a prisoner who is charged with forgery.

Two car-loads of lumber arrived on the Southern Pacific Thursday consigned to A. Warriner. It will be used in constructing the new addition to A. Nevraumont's El Verano Villa.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lewis of Sacramento, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Mabel Lewis, arrived here Thursday morning for a few days sojourn on their ranch.

A. W. Weaver, our village smithy, is soon to leave for Shasta county, where he has a gold mine. "You Know" is somewhat of a gold hunter himself, and if Al is in need of a partner he would do well to hunt him up.

S. A. Bishop, Deputy Claims Adjuster of the Southern Pacific Company, was in town Thursday. He came here to adjust the claim of James Tate, who had a field of barley burned alongside the Southern Pacific track last June.

Frank Young, formerly of this place is now a Benedict. He was married recently to the daughter of a prominent business man of Stockton. The young couple arrived here on the Southern Pacific train Sunday evening. After spending a short honeymoon with their relatives in this place Mr. and Mrs. Young returned to Stockton, which they will make their future home.

A serious accident happened near this place Thursday morning. While Harry Baines and his brother were sawing wood with a big cross cut saw the implement slipped and striking Harry on the arm the sharp teeth penetrated deeply into the flesh, making an ugly gash. The wound was sewed up by a surgeon from Sonoma and at this writing young Baines is getting along nicely.

The old and trite aphorism that "it is an ill wind that blows nobody good" was exemplified in this place last week. The big gum tree that was blown down and came near wrecking the Barley home during the recent big blow, was cut up into stove wood by Mr. Barley and found a ready sale at $4.50 per cord in Sonoma, which is suffering from a wood famine. The tree was a large one and proved a veritble bonanza.

Frank Lambert was arrested on complaint of Fred. Carriger last Thursday and charged with petty larceny. The arrest was made by Deputy Constable Lounibos, who took the accused before Judge Small of Sonoma. Lambert plead guilty to the charge and was fined $4 25, which covered the costs of the arrest. Lambert's offense was the purloining of two axles and a buggy seat, the property of Mr. Carriger.

A sale of real property was ordered in the estate of Eliza Lowery McCowen, and an additional bond of $5,000 was required.

Robt. Howe was appointed guardian of the estate of Sarah Harper, a minor, in a bond of $90.

Estates of Frank McElarney, Charles Weigand, B. Grapet and Rasmine Pederson, to March 17th; estate of Mary C. Wattles to March 12th; estate of Chas. R. Potter, reset for April 1st.

The plaintiff was allowed five days to amend the complaint by consent of defendant in the action of J. L. Jordan vs. Charles W. Otis.

In the action of the Savings Bank of Santa Rosa vs. Georgiana L. Schell and Frederick A. Schell, the default of the defendants was entered for failure to answer.

The default of the defendant was entered in the divorce suit of Lily M. Ewing vs. J. E. Ewing and the matter was referred to the Court Commissioner to take testimony.

The action of Bianchi vs. Bulotti was reset for trial for April 4th.

The action of the Savings Bank of Santa Rosa vs. T. J. Geary and others was continued to March 17th.

In Department Two Judge Burnett disposed of the following matters:

N. King was appointed referee in partition in a bond of $7,000 in the action of W. Schlake vs. H. F. Schlake.

The action of Thomas Maclay against Mary P. McCrillish was dropped from the calendar to be restored on motion.

These matters were continued: H. Estinghausen vs. H. Schoeninch, Whitcomb vs. Whitcomb and Jane Peters vs J. P. McWilliams to March 17th; Dalzell & Moller vs. Salmon Creek Lodge, I. O. O. F., was set for April 3d.

The case of the People vs. Jack Mays was set for trial April 1st.

The trial of the condemnation suit brought by the California Central Gas and Electric Company against Mrs. Fine and others was set for April 16th.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

WEAKENING DAILY.

The Progress of Pulmonary Disease.

Just a few years past a young wife leaned upon the strong arm of a stalwart husband. He was so big, so strong, that she felt a sense of perfect protection, of complete security.

After so short a time the once strong man leans heavily on the arm of his wife, as he feebly and slowly keeps pace with her in the regular walk which is daily shortened because his strength fails daily.

That story scarce needs explanation. Almost anyone will recognize the consumptive in the weak and wasted husband, who is making his last stand against disease.

The prevalence of pulmonary diseases is a fact which should be squarely faced, and the danger of such diseases frankly admitted. When this is done we shall be ready to take prompt steps to cure disease whenever it attacks the lungs or other organs of respiration. Delay is always dangerous, often fatal. A great deal of the mortality caused by disease in general, and especially in the case of consumption, may be attributed to neglect which permits the malady to root itself firmly in the system.

PROMPT ACTION

when the first symptoms of disease appear will often save a serious and dangerous illness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, by its cure of obstinate coughs, bronchitis, weak lungs, etc., has established a reputation as the best and most reliable put-up medicine for the cure of diseases of the organs of respiration. It is not a mere "cough medicine," loaded with opiates or narcotics—which soothe but cannot effect a permanent cure. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic, and the healing which results from its use proves it a real strength-giving, body-building medicine.

"Only for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I think I would be in my grave to-day," writes Mr. Moses Miles, of Hilliard, Uinta Co., Wyoming. "I had asthma so bad I could not sleep at night and was compelled to give up work. It affected my lungs so that I coughed all the time, both day and night. My friends all thought that I had consumption. My wife has taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it has helped her so much she insisted on my trying his 'Golden Medical Discovery'—which I did. I have taken four bottles and am now a well man, weighing 185 pounds, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

WHEN DOCTORS DESPAIR.

The best way to judge of the wonderful curative power of "Golden Medical Discovery" is to note the numerous cases in which it has cured when doctors despaired of restoring health. Look on a picture painted with absolute fidelity to the facts:

A darkened room, a gasping sufferer in the bed. Hectic burns in her face; emaciation has stripped the body of its comeliness; every now and again comes the harsh, tearing cough, followed by a trickling thread of blood which stains the lips. Friends look on helplessly. The doctor is pitiful but powerless. He says: "You will never be well again." At this crisis, when hope is dead and help seems impossible, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is tried and slowly and surely with the use of the medicine health comes back—the cough grows less severe, the hemorrhages less frequent, there is a gain in flesh and in strength, and some glad day the chamber door opens and the family circle is once more rejoined. That is a true story, not of one woman or of one man, but of scores and hundreds of men and women, who, when all else had failed, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

THE DOCTOR WAS WRONG.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room, without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Favorite 'Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

SENSE AND SCIENCE

are on the side of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In wasting diseases such as consumption the great need is nutrition.

"Golden Medical Discovery" cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so enables the strengthening of the body by food, which is no more lost or wasted but is assimilated and supplies nutrition to the weak body.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing else "just as good" for coughs, weak lungs, and other respiratory diseases.

Death of Mrs. C. Gawne's Father.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gawne were called on Thursday of last week by telegram to the bedside of Robert Young of Modesto, father of Mrs. Gawne. As the wires were down, the message came by way of Napa and arrived too late for Mr. and Mrs. Gawne to reach Modesto before Mr. Young expired. The cause of death of deceased was pneumonia with which he was seized but a few days before he expired. Mr. Young was a native of Scotland and aged 73 years. He was an early settler in San Joaquin county and a man of sterling worth and prominence. His death is regretted by all who knew him and to his family his loss is a severe blow. Deceased leaves a widow and six children.

A Printer Greatly Surprised.

ARREST OF A FORGER.

Had Been Working as a Woodchopper Here for Months.

Chas. Seymour, alias J. H. Harvey, wanted in Healdsburg for forgery, was arrested in this place Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Grace and Deputy Sheriff Ryan. Subsequently the prisoner was taken to Santa Rosa and lodged in jail.

Seymour, alias Harvey, who was working on the coast of Mendocino county, forged a check for a small amount on a Healdsburg firm. This was last November and some time during the following month he turned up in this place and hired out as a woodchopper and when arrested was following out that occupation on the Bill ranch in the eastern suburbs of town.

He attempted no disguise, except that he had shaved off his moustache, and wore the same clothes he had on when he fled from Mendocino county, and it was these that eventually led to his identification and arrest.

Sheriff Grace shortly after Seymour had fled sent a description and photograph of the man to officers all over the State in the shape of a circular letter. One of these fell into the hands of Deputy Sheriff Ryan shortly before the fugitive turned up here. The officer spotted the man several weeks ago and although the clothes worn by the suspect, even to the Fedora hat, were identical to those described in the circular, the shaving off of his moustache had so altered the facial expression of the man, that the officer refrained from arresting him at that time. He kept a close watch on him, however, and among other things observed that Seymour had commenced to cultivate his shorn moustache. Deputy Ryan bided his time and watched the growth of the hirsute appendage on the upper lip of the suspect's face for several weeks. Finally Seymour was sporting a magnificent pair of moustachios, and the officer then recognized the culprit and his arrest followed as narrated above.

Once under arrest Seymour acknowledged that he was the man wanted.

The forger, evidently does not belong to the criminal class. He is described as being addicted to gambling and a hard drinker, and this probably accounts for his committing a crime that may land him in the penitentiary.

Death of Father Leahy's Brother.

Rev. John Leahy, brother of Rev. Father Leahy of this place, died in Sacramento last Saturday. The deceased was a native of Listowel, County Kerry, Ireland, and aged 52 years. He leaves besides his brother in this place, two other brothers and a sister. These are Sister Mary Agnes of Sacramento, Thomas Leahy of San Francisco and William Leahy of Oakland.

The funeral took place Tuesday from the cathedral in Sacramento, where a solemn requiem high mass was celebrated in the presence of the beloved pastor's parishoners.

Father John Leahy was a highly educated gentleman and was universally esteemed for his many excellent qualities of heart and mind. Requiescat in pace.

A VICTIM OF APPENDICITIS.

Former Teacher in Our High School Dead.

Miss Matilda McCulloch of Alameda, who taught in the High School here last year, is dead. Miss McCulloch became the victim of acute appendicitis and death followed an operation performed in the hopes of aiding the young sufferer. She was taken ill a week ago last Monday, and the following day was removed to a private hospital whers the operation was decided upon. The shock was more than she could bear, however, and on Friday she died. The passing of one so young is indeed sad to record. Miss McCulloch was but 23 years old and an only daughter idolized by devoted parents. Her father is the well-known San Francisco pilot Capt. J. E. McCulloch.

During her stay here in Sonoma Miss McCulloch endeared herself to all who came in contact with her. She was a bright, refined and sweet girl and her sad death was a great shock to her former pupils and friends.

Deceased was a native of San Francisco and a graduate of the University of California. The funeral took place Sunday from the family residence in Alameda. Will Clewe and Mrs. G. D. Rich of this place were present at the last sad rites. The former was one of the pall bearers.

RUBY EASTMAN DEAD.

Remarkable Mortality in the Eastman Family.

Miss Ruby Eastman, a sister of Mrs. Nickerson of this place, died at the family home in San Francisco last Monday. The young lady was well-known here, where she has frequently visited the past three or four years. Miss Eastman was born in Santa Cruz and was aged but twenty years. The mortality in the Eastman family has been startling, the mother and three daughters having passed away within the past few months.

Five sisters still survive the deceased. They are Mrs. Nickerson, Mrs. Woodworth and Lottie, Clara and Hettie Eastman.

The Weather and Farm Work.

Tuesday and Wednesday last were the most pleasant days experienced in this valley for three months. Thursday a cold norther set in and dispelled all hopes for a continution of spring weather. Since the stormy weather of February our farmers have been busy pruning and spraying the orchards and attending to other farm work which had to be dropped last month owing to the excessive rains.

The season has been peculiarly favorable for our dairymen and they are more than contented in consequence. Grass is plenty and stock of all kinds in fine condition.

Death of C. B. Luff.

C. B. Luff, the popular manager and part owner of Hale Bros. & Co's store in Petaluma, is dead. Four weeks ago he was taken with pneumonia and after a heroic struggle passed away last Saturday. Mr. Luff was one of the most energetic and popular of Petaluma's business men and his death creates a void in the community that it will be hard to fill. Mr. Luff was 42 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

SONOMA GIRL IN ALASKA.

Miss Huldah Lidstrum Is Back from Skaguay on a Visit.

Miss Huldah Lidstrum, well-known in this valley as a teacher in the Locust Grove school at Schellville and who participated in many of Sonoma's social affairs several years ago, has returned from Skaguay, Alaska, after an absence of nearly eighteen months in that bleak and inhospitable region of the northland.

Miss Lidstrom, after resigning her position as a teacher at Locust Grove, entered the Lane Hospital Training School for Nurses, San Francisco, from which she was graduated about two years ago. In June, 1900, the Episcopal Board of Missions sent Miss Lidstrum to Skaguay to take charge of the hospital in that place.

Miss Lidstrum gives an interesting account of her experiences: "The first hospital in Skaguay," she says, "was established by the citizens of the town in a one-room log cabin during an epidemic of erysipelas and spinal menengitis in 1897. The following year it was turned over to the Episcopal Church and Bishop Rowe, missionary bishop of Alaska, took charge of it. Under his direction another ward was built and a kitchen, office and and nurse's room were added. It was christened the Bishop Rowe Hospital and was supported by the Board of Episcopal Missions of the United States. When Mrs. Bowmy assistant, and I arrived we found a very discouraging state of affairs There was not a patient in the hospital and in a measure this was fortunate, for the conveniences and appliances were the cots of the two wards, the men's and the women's, and one hot water bag, which leaked. In addition there was a most unsanitary accumulation of dirt and a pitiful lack of bed linen and towels and the treasury was empty. Our first move was to attack the dirt and then we sat down and wrote letters to the Episcopal churches of San Francisco, asking for donations. They responded generously and in a short time we had a fine stock of household supplies and conveniences. The week after my arrival my first patient came to me, and since then the wards have never been empty. Sometimes our funds would run very low, and then Dr. Bailey of the army, who was stationed at Camp Skaguay, would come to the rescue. He would go around to the saloons and gambling houses and tax each table. 'See here,' he would say, 'aren't you ashamed to have that little girl up at the hospital worrying and trying to keep the place running with no money in the treasury when you sit here with stacks of it?' This was enough for the generous-hearted miners, and in an hour or two Dr. Bailey would come back with two or three hundred dollars.

"One miner, who cleaned up $6,000 one night, felt so good over it the next day that he sent us twenty five quarts of whisky, twenty-five quarts of port, twenty-five quarts of brandy and $100 in gold. Another volunteered to paint the building inside and out, which it sadly needed, and W. H. Taylor, who is an experienced bookkeeper, took our bookkeeping off our hands and has since become secretary for the hospital, with no remuneration except our gratitude.

"On one occasion Dr. Bailey, assisted by Captain and Mrs. Jenks, who were then stationed at Camp Skaguay, got up an entertainment and dance to raise funds for the hospital. Prizes were donated by the miners and merchants, which were auctioned off during the evening. Five tickets for Seattle brought twice their value, and in all several hundred dollars were cleared, which paid all our bills and left us $100 in the treasury."

Spring Cleaning

You are made aware of the necessity for cleansing your blood in the spring by humors, eruptions and other outward signs of impurity.

THE FEMALE GRAFTER.

She Turns Up in Several Near-By Towns.

Miss Tillotson, the female grafter, who dropped in on Sonoma last month and tried to work the town, has been heard from again. It will be remembered that she claimed to be an elocutionist and went round town trying to contract with various organizations to give an entertainment for half of the proceeds. Sonoma, however, was too much for her and having been caught in a tangle of lies and misrepresentations she left town very hurriedly. Santa Rosa, Sebastopol and Petaluma were each in turn taken in, and in the case of Santa Rosa an officer had to be summoned to thwart the scheme of the grafter. Some of the ladies of Sebastopol had contracted with the adventuress for a literary entertainment, but her crooked work in this place and other towns caused the engagement to be cancelled just in the nick of time. At Petaluma she really appeared and got out of town with all kinds of money. The Argus says of that performance: "Miss Tillotson appeared at Guild Hall to a big house Monday evening, assisted by talent from the Petaluma High School. Opinion was divided Tuesday whether the performance ranked A1 or was so rank that it had no rank at all."

Look out other towns. This female grafter is coming your way. If she does, remember she is wanted here for beating a board bill and for purloining small articles in Glen Ellen.

A ROMANTIC WEDDING.

A Young Ranch Hand Wins a Bride of Fourteen.

Josephine Proletti and Giavanni Decarini of this valley secured a marriage license from County Clerk Fulton Wednesday and were married that evening in Santa Rosa The courtship and marriage was quite a romantic one. The groom was employed a short time ago as a ranch hand by Mr. Proletti, the father of the bride, who is fourteen years of age. The Proletti ranch is located east of this place and its owner is one of Sonoma Valley's well to-do farmers. The poor hired man, who is a husky young fellow of twenty-two, laid siege to the heart of little Miss Proletti, with the result that an attachment sprung up between the young people. It was a case of love at first sight and winning the consent of the girl's parents to a union of two heats that beat as one, the sequel of which is that the poor but industrious ranch hand is now the husband of the rich rancher's daughter. Decarini and his child bride have taken up their residence on the Proletti ranch.

St. Francis' Church.

Rev. Father Cassin of St. Rose's Church, Santa Rosa, will occupy the pulpit of St. Francis' Church to-morrow (Sunday). Rev. Father Leahy, the resident pastor, goes to Santa Rosa this afternoon, and will take Father Cassin's place to-morrow in St. Rose's Church.

Mrs. Malstead of San Francisco was home this week on a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fochetti.

Miss May Sweeney, teacher of Latin and French in the Vallejo High School, was here Sunday visiting her old college friends Miss Hattie Jacobs and Miss Celeste Granice.

Bernard Baer is in town and will remain a week as the guest of his uncle S. Schocken. Mr. Baer, who is one of the baby members of Temple Lodge, No. 14, took the third degree in Masonry Tuesday night.

Mrs. Skelton Glaister (nee Burris) returned home Sunday evening from San Francisco, where she recently underwent a successful operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Glaister stood the trip well and is steadily improving.

Mrs. A. Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Duhring, three children and maid left on the Southern Pacific Monday afternoon for Santa Barbara where they will attend the funeral of John P. Stearns, whose remains had been shipped from St. Helena to that place for interment. They are expected home to day.

Chas. Filippini has entirely recovered from his late illness and has returned from San Francisco where he has been under the care of a physician. He is attending to the business of his big dairy farm between this place and Napa as usual and appears to be none the worse for his illness, which was a severe hemorrhage of the nose.

Miss Riensch was in Alameda Sunday.

Miss Emily Kearney is home from Oakland.

Roy Stockwell has gone to Siskiyou county.

Mrs. C. T. Ryland has been sojourning in Los Angeles.

Claude Skidmore visited San Francisco last Wednesday.

The Woman's Club meets this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fontana are coming back here to reside after an absence of ten or twelve years.

Mrs. H. Ebson (nee Engelbert) of Martinez, Contra Costa county, was here on business this week.

Mrs. Lulu de Emparan returned from the metropolis Wednesday evening after a brief visit with friends.

F. W. Bean was a passenger from San Francisco on the north-bound California Northwestern Wednesday afternoon last.

E. T. Allen came up from San Francisco Wednesday evening and is spending a few days at La Lomita, his handsome country home near this place.

Clarence Cheney, with Hale Bros. & Co., Petaluma, was in town Tuesday. Mr. Cheney says the death of Mr. Luff, the genial manager of the store, and so well-known to the people of this valley, cast a gloom over the entire town.

Leland Ramsdell, who formerly visited here, now resides in New York, where he is associated with a big gentlemen's furnishing house. Young Ramsdell is receiving great praise in the East because of his interest in a young boy tenor whom he has introduced into musical circles. The boy attracted the attention of Ramsdell, who spent part of his allowance in having his wonderful voice cultivated. The youthful singer has startled New York and he is now a soloist in one of the largest churches of that city. Russell Sage, the millionaire, has also interested himself in him, but the boy claims Leland Ramsdell as his real benefactor.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, MARCH 15, 1902.

AN AUTHOR'S READING.

The Mean Trick Roqueplan Played on Aspiring Dramatists.

Roqueplan, a Parisian journalist, who was also manager of a theater, had an easy method of dealing with literary aspirants. One time his little managerial sanctum was invaded by a young dramatic author. This apartment was comfortably furnished, and in it was a spacious alcove, hidden by heavy curtains. "Take a seat in the armchair," said Roqueplan to the timid young intruder with the manuscript. "While you read I'll stretch myself upon the sofa in yonder recess; otherwise I could not appreciate the beauties of your play. Begin, if you please. I am listening."

The poor author drinks a glass of water, coughs nervously and commences. Roqueplan is in the alcove, hidden from view by the curtains. The playwright was hard at work and such sentences as "It was sixteen years ago today," "What ails you, marquis?" "'Tis a passing spasm, nothing more!" "To the boat!" "I see lights gleaming at the manor house!" "The bloodhounds are on my track!" etc., were arousing the dormant echoes of the directorial cabinet.

The whole three acts were read without a single murmur from Roqueplan. Delighted at not hearing one word of disapprobation, the author timidly asks if the work is accepted. No answer. The dramatist lifts up the curtain. Horror! Roqueplan had opened a little door at the back of the alcove and was on the stage chatting quietly with some friends.

In answer to the remonstrances of the writer, "Excuse me," he explains, with a smile which is "childlike and bland." "I fancied your drama was in four acts. Had I known it was in three I should have returned a quarter of an hour earlier."

Men Bedmakers.

Making beds is commonly considered a woman's work, but there are nevertheless quite a number of men who follow bedmaking as a calling, finding regular, steady employment at this work in many of the lodging houses for men. This is especially true of those in New York. For many years all the bedmakers in these places of many beds were men. For example, in a big lodging house, with from 400 to 500 beds, there is a bedmaker to every floor, having perhaps ninety beds to make daily. Incidentally he sweeps the floor and keeps it clean and in order. The bedmaker goes on duty at 6 a. m. and works until 6 p. m. The bulk of his work, however, is over by 3 p. m. Some men bedmakers, like women, make untidy beds, and some are not only quick, but careful, and make a bed that looks inviting. The pay of the man bedmaker is small, and commonly he sleeps in the house where he is employed.

Hard to Get.

Doctors are sometimes more considerate of their patients' needs than they are of their circumstances. It is easier to prescribe a journey to Europe or Bermuda than it is to fill the prescription.

A gentleman whose affairs had become very much embarrassed and who was overworked and overworried went to a celebrated specialist broken down with nervous exhaustion.

"Now," said the doctor, "there is only one thing that you must have. That is absence of worry, absence of care and freedom from all preoccupations."

"Much obliged for your prescription," said the gentleman, "but you have left out one important thing in it."

"What is that?"

"You haven't put in the apothecary's street and number."

How Soundings Are Made.

To get correct soundings in deep water is difficult. The best invention for that purpose is a shot weighing about thirty pounds, which carries down a line. Through this shot or sinker a hole is drilled, and through the hole is passed a rod of iron which moves easily back and forth. At the end of the bar a cup is dug out, the inside being coated with lard. The bar is made fast to the line, a sling holding the shot in position. When the bar, which extends below the shot, touches the bottom, the sling unhooks, and the shot slides downward and drives the lard coated cup into the sand at the bottom. In that way the character of the ocean's floor is determined.

"Chock Full of Work."

A visitor to a farm was especially struck by the great ruggedness and strength of one of the stalwart harvest hands and said to the farmer:

"That fellow ought to be chock full of work."

"He is," replied the farmer, "or he ought to be, because I hain't never been able to get none out of him."—Success.

Between the hours of eleven o'clock A. M. and closing time at night on Jan. 25th, 1901, A. F. Clark, druggist, Glade Springs, Va., sold twelve bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says, "I never handled a medicine that sold better or gave better satisfaction to my customers." This Remedy has been in general use in Virginia for many years, and the people there are well aquainted with its excellent qualities. Many of them have testified to the remarkable cures which it has effected. When you need a good, reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grip, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure whichit affords. ARE YOU DEAF?

ANY HEAD NOISES?
ALL CASES OF
DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE
by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.
HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.
Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.
Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
